

PROPOSE FARMER ON BANK BOARD

Proposal Is Political, Say Reserve Officers in Coast Speech

SAN FRANCISCO, April 12.—The proposal to put a farmer on the federal reserve board is political, John Mitchell, of Minnesota, a member of the board, declared in an address before a local club here Wednesday. Mitchell is like adding a fifth wheel to a wagon," Mr. Mitchell said. Mr. Mitchell declared that if the same were carried into reality difficulties would be sure to follow, because there was no room for politics in the banking system. Mr. Mitchell shared the board was the "most mis-terested and misrepresented" part of government's financial structure. Mr. C. Miller, another board member, supported the statement. Mr. Miller said, "The return of complete prosperity and the solution of the economic problems of the United States can be gained only when the laws of Europe are put on an orderly basis. I say this in the face of the fact that the United States has fully declined to enter the Geneva conference. That meeting is political and we don't want to get into European politics. When the conference over the people of Europe will see that the United States is necessary when politics is dismissed we help them."

ELDED BODIES OF TWINS SEPARATED

CHICAGO, April 12.—The strangely elded bodies of Rose and Josepha Blase, the "Siamese twins," were separated today and burned. The operation, which surgeons were not allowed to attempt while the twins lay dying, performed by John T. Chastka, undertaker, after relatives had adoned a plan to return them to Slovakia in a specially built coffin. Because the entrance of the crematorium permitted the admission of only single bodies at a time, the bodies of the twins were placed in separate coffins. Some time within the next week the ashes of the twins mingled a single urn in typification of their association through life. will be taken back to Prague, their birthplace. The twins died March 20, but dispo- sition of the bodies was delayed at the request of local scientists, who wish to determine the nature of the link which bound them. An autopsy or a mortuary examination of the bodies was forbidden by the relatives, however.

ONE BIG UNION IDEA DEFEATED

Gompers Accuses Foster of Planning Radical Revolution

CHICAGO, April 12.—William Z. Foster, who directed the steel strike, was charged by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, with being the instigator of the so-called one big union movement in the labor organization. Mr. Gompers' charge came in an address before presidents of various unions in the Chicago Federation of Labor and followed a five hour session during which the one big union movement was bitterly assailed and as valiantly defended.

FOSTER DEFENDS PLAN

Previous to Mr. Gompers' address Foster had spoken in defense of the one big union principle recently ap- proved by the Chicago Federation of Labor, which passed a resolution peti- tioning the American Federation of Labor to call a conference to discuss the feasibility of amalgamating all unions in any one industry into one central body. This resolution, Mr. Gompers contended, was tantamount to the formation of one big union. De- fenders of the resolution asserted that it did not involve the one big union feature.

LENINE QUOTED

"Back of that resolution," Mr. Gompers charged, "is the propaganda of radical revolution to overthrow the constituted government of the United States. To do that, as Lenin him- self said, the American Federation of Labor must be overthrown and Wil- liam Z. Foster wants to become the autocrat of America."

Edwards charges that the two men entered the hotel, went through the till, held up three men in the lobby and attempted to open the safe. James and Holmes assert they were raiding the place for liquor or drugs but Chief of Police Dymont, in discharg- ing James, declared if the episode were a raid it was unauthorized.

'PHANTOM BURGLAR' BELIEVED NABBED

NEW YORK, April 12.—The daily police lineup at headquarters where the night's haul of burglars, hold-up men and suspects undergo the scrutiny of 150 masked detectives, brought a sensation when old time detectives claimed they recognized in William Foner, 31, the "phantom burglar" of Fifth avenue homes. Peering over from the slits in their masks as they closely scrutinized the long line of men who had been ar- rested, several of the detectives stopped as they came to Foner. Again, and again they examined him, while Foner saw nothing but gleaming eyes behind jet black masks which covered their faces. They held consultations, and finally agreed that the man before them was the "phantom burglar." The "phantom" has eluded detec- tives for a long time. Time and again a score or more have kept daily and nightly vigils in the vicinity of Fifth avenue but always the burglar
